Eco-Panda Swimwear Featured in the August 2009 Issue of Coco Eco Magazine's Living La Vida Fashion Spread

Los Angeles, CA

Eco-Panda swimwear featured in the August 2009 Issue of Coco Eco Magazine! The culturally diverse styles, Jungle Beat & Mandalay, caught the eye of Coco Eco's Fashion Director, who chose to feature them in the Living La Vida fashion spread in the current issue, as seen on pages 18 and 20. The featured styles including the Mandalay Halter Bikini, Jungle Beat Monokini, and Jungle Beat Bandeau Halter Bikini are all limited edition styles with no plans for future reproductions. Coco Eco is known as the modern girl's style guide on the road to being gorgeous, glamorous and green, and your new source of everything eco-chic, that's good for the planet, and good for you too. As the world's first recycled nylon swimwear line, Eco-Panda is committed to supplying fashionista's and eco-chic divas with affordable, eco-chic swimwear that refuses to compromise quality or style.

"Responsible Fashion, Affordable Luxury". Eco-Panda is committed to being a green company, and utilizes all recycled materials and eco-friendly shipping methods. By using post-consumer recycled nylon, Eco-Panda helps sustain the environment for future generations by diminishing greenhouse gas emissions that lead to global warming, minimizing the use of landfill sites and incineration, and helping to prevent exhaustion of our limited natural petroleum resources. In fact, recycled nylon uses 27% less natural petroleum resources, and emits 28% less greenhouse gases.
